

And now for something a little different....

AAUW NJ Unconference

We are looking for ways to engage our membership. What better way than to have some meetings that encourage our members to engage with each other. What is an unconference? An unconference is a participant-oriented meeting where the attendees decide on the agenda, discussion topics, workshops, and, often, even the time and venues. It is a flexible way in which participants engage with each other ! Participants suggest topics of their own interest and choose sessions accordingly. The format provides an excellent opportunity for networking and for large organizations (like ours) to have conversations with each other.

Conversations while wearing an UGLY Sweater

Join us for an evening, with your favorite beverage, snack, and wearing your favorite UGLY sweater. If you don't have one, make one. If you can't make one, then that's okay, because what's important is that you can be there and share a little bit of you.
